

Summerterm 2019

Prof. Singer / Prof. Gao

10552 Principles of Private Law from a Chinese and German Perspective: A Comparative Law Seminar

The seminar deals with basic issues of Private and Labour Law from a Chinese and German perspective. A group of students from Tongji University, Shanghai, China, and a group of students from Humboldt-University will discuss seminar papers from both perspectives in English language. The Chinese students will present their papers from a Chinese perspective, the German students from a German perspective. The seminar is of special interest for German students with an interest for academic exchange with China.

Date: 19/20 July 2019 (Block Seminar).

Requirements: A written seminar paper (15 pages) and an oral presentation (ca. 30 minutes) both in English language; successful participants will receive 5 BZQ II-Credits.

Applications (maximum 8 participants from HU): sekretariat.singer@rewi.hu-berlin.de

Preliminary Meeting: Wednesday, 24 April, 4 pm, Room Nr. E 25

Applicants should select a topic from the list below:

1. Principles of Tort Law
2. The Right of Privacy
3. The Right to be Forgotten in the Internet
4. Liability for Defects, in particular for Consumers
5. Consumers Right of Withdrawal
6. Duty of Providing pre-contractual Information
7. Control over the Fairness of contractual Terms
8. Obligation to Contract
9. Absence of Intention, Defects and Avoidance of Contracts

In particular Labour Law:

10. Restrictions of the Dismissal of Employees
11. Protection against Discrimination of Employees
12. Personal Liability of Employees
13. Protection of Crowdworkers by Labour Law?

gez. Singer/Gao