

Wintersemester 2018/2019

Prof. Metzger / Prof. Singer

10552 Law and Technology in China and Germany:
A Comparative Law Seminar

The seminar deals with issues of law and technology, especially questions of intellectual property and information technology law, from a Chinese and German perspective. A group of students from Tongji University, Shanghai, China, and a group of students from Humboldt-University will discuss seminar papers from both perspectives in English language. The seminar is of special interest for German students with an interest for academic exchange with China.

Date: 9./10.November 2018 (Block Seminar).

Requirements: A written seminar paper (15-20 pages) and an oral presentation (ca. 30 minutes) both in English language; successful participants will receive 5 BZQ II-Credits.

Applications (maximum 8 participants from HU): sekretariat.singer@rewi.hu-berlin.de

Preliminary Meeting: Wednesday, 5. September, 2 pm, Room Nr. E 25

Applicants should select a topic from the list below:

1. Duties of hosting platforms to filter out copyright protected content
2. Data portability under the GDPR
3. Defensive publishing and patent law
4. Protection against cyberquatting of new top level domains
5. WTO Dispute Resolution in IP conflicts
6. Driverless Car Liability
7. Algorithms and Discrimination
8. Industry 4.0: Data Protection for Employees
9. Contracts for digital Goods
10. Contracts in the Platform Industry

gez. Metzger/Singer